

THE CHRONICLE

VOL. VI. NO. 21.

CROSSFIELD ALBERTA, THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1913.

PRICE 25 CENTS A YEAR.

LAUT BROS.

DON'T wait till the Flies get bad and then try to put them out—Keep Them Out Now.

We have Screens for every home in Crossfield district, and now is the time to put them on.

each.
Screen Doors---good enough $1.40
" " even better 1.80
" " very best 2.25

Screen Windows, 30c. & 35c. each.

Bulk Wire Screen in all widths from 18 to 36 in.

We have lots of other things that the housewife needs at this season of the year. See our table of KITCHEN LUXURIES in the rear of the Store.

Its covered with things you need.

Laut Brothers,
HARDWARE & GROCERIES.

Pioneer Store

THE nobbiest, most exclusive Clothes in Canada are those made by The CAMPBELL MANUFACTURING CO. There is something about them that distinguishes them from other ready-to-wear Clothes, but the most attractive feature is the price. Drop in and see them. If your own judgment does not prompt you to buy you will not be urged. We have them in the latest styles and all sizes from $21.00 to $25.00.

Our special Made-to-Measure Department is showing hundreds of samples in Worsteds, Tweeds, Serges, etc., from $21.00 to $38.00, and our repeat orders testify to the merit of this Clothing.

"BARRINGTON HATS," This name implies the best values in Hats, and those that have worn them will wear nothing else, because they know that nothing better can be bought at the price. We have them in all shades and shapes in Fedora, Soft, Stiff, Silk Velour, and Panamas, and Straws from $1.00 to $10.00 each.

Wm. Urquhart,
GENERAL MERCHANT
Crossfield, Alta.

Local and General

The Race Track is being rapidly whipped into shape, thanks to the people of the district who are putting in their time to this end. When the work is completed we will have one of the best half mile tracks in the Province.

Don't let your pigs run wild. McRory's have good Hog Fencing at 35c. per rod.

The Secretary of the Fair has received another Special Prize from Milne and Warmbold, $10.00 for the best colt sired by Stravannan [16106]. Be sure and enter for this.

Mr. Wilson, of the Crossfield Colony, was a business visitor to Crossfield on Tuesday last.

A number of poultry buyers have been in this district during the past week. Good prices are being offered.

Don't miss seeing Neil L. McLeod, Professional Scottish Dancer, with the Calgary Pipe Band at Crossfield Fair, on June the 20th.

John Patterson, who has been away in California for some months, has returned to his Crossfield interests.

Mrs. P. A. Wintemute and family, of Calgary, spent Victoria Day with Mrs. E. S. McRory.

About 40 people from here attended the Ball game in Carstairs, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hamilton who was formerly on the local staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce as teller, has returned to take up the duties of accountant in place of Mr. Tucker, who has been promoted to manager at Stony Plain, Alta.

Les. McKay, who is doing Home-steading duties near Drumheller, is visiting at present with his brother Charles.

A very enjoyable dance was held at the home of Mr. Gunceoli last Friday night. A number of people from here were present.

Messrs. Ontkes and Thomas have bought out the retail butcher business of Goodland Brothers. Messrs. Goodland intend going into the wholesale business in Hogs and Poultry.

If you require to renew your old Loan or take out a new one call and see me, as I can save you money. I represent the N. of Scotland Can. Mortgage Co., The Canada Life, and others.

CHAS. HULTZBORN.
The interest of the school children in the visit of the "Made-in-Canada Train" to Crossfield, on Monday, June 9th, from 9-30 to 10-30 a.m., will be increased by the announcement of a prize competition in essay writing arranged by the advance representative of the train, who has just lately been in Calgary. For the two best essays written by the children on the subject "The Industries of Canada as seen on the 'Made-in-Canada Train,'" two valuable prizes will be given. The first is an edition de luxe of Beaulieu's "Canada," in the "Romance of Empire" series, and the second a good cloth binding of the same book. The prizes will be forwarded to the winners as soon as the two essays and names of the successful competitors reach the head office in Toronto.

HAIL INSURANCE.
Reasonable Rates,
Fair Adjustments,
Prompt Settlement of Losses.
Risks from $2.00 to $10.00 per acre accepted in the Hudson Bay and other Companies, 6 per cent and up. Call early and protect yourself against Loss by Hail.

CHAS. HULTZBORN.

E. H. MORROW

Justice of the Peace--Notary Public

Office:

The Old Parker Residence.

Insurance. PHONE 31. Appraiser

OCEAN TICKETS

Rates to and from all Parts of the World.

Tickets Arranged for Immigrants, all Cabins.

Write us for Information.

NIBLOCK and TULL, Limited,
GRAIN EXCHANGE, PHONE 11002. CALGARY.

FOR GOOD DRY LUMBER GO TO Atlas Lumber Co., Ltd.

We carry a complete stock of Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Roofing Paper,

Building Paper, Brick, Lime, Plaster
Cement, Sash and Doors, Moulding, Oak Dimension

WOOD AND COAL

Let us give you estimates

C. H. WEBER, LOCAL MANAGER.

WHY !

WHY are you not doing that Painting?
When you are ready get BAPCO
Paint at McRORY'S.

WHY are you waiting to fence when you can buy good fencing at 35 cents a rod at McRORY'S.

WHY are you getting along with that old worn out range when McRORY'S will sell you a MOFFAT at $60.00.

WHY wait until the house is filled with flies
McRORY'S have a complete stock of SCREEN DOORS and WINDOWS
ready for you.

And Why, Why, Why are you not getting that Eavtroughing done before all the Rains are passed.

We are Waiting for your Answer.

W. McRory & Sons,
HARDWARE SPECIALISTS AND HEATING EXPERTS.

Multitudes of People

take SCOTT'S EMULSION regularly to repair wasted vitality and enrich the blood to withstand winter colds and exposure.

It contains the highest grade of cod liver oil, medically perfected; it is a cream-like food-medicine, scrupulously pure and healthful without drug or stimulant. Endorsed and advocated by medical authorities everywhere.

SCOTT'S EMULSION drives out colds—nourishes the membranes of the throat and lungs and keeps them healthy.

Nothing equals SCOTT'S EMULSION for lung and bronchial weakness—cough, tight chest and all pulmonary troubles.

Especially good for infants, children and adults, but you must have SCOTT'S.

Scott & Bown, Toronto, Ontario 12-58

MURRAY MURGATROYD JOURNALIST

By Morice Gerard

(Copyright)

(Continued)

Yes, of course, that would settle the matter. They would not have a leg to stand on.

That evidence is in existence, the great statement went on in the same cold, calm tone. We know it for a fact.

But surely it can be obtained. It must be obtained, Murgatroyd was deeply excited and his eyes glowed with the fire of which his mind supplied the fuel.

That depends upon yourself, he was a great contrast to his vis-a-vis, who had infinitely more at stake.

Upon me? Yet the statement did not take the listener by surprise. For he had felt the preacher had been lying up to the commission.

Yes, I have tried upon you—after long deliberation. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies on the coast, about track four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach, Bishop's Monkland, as probably you know, is on the main line of the S. W. N.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obstinate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and women. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels.

You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The Celestiale requires it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the original, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents, abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the address in about a fortnight's time—will have in these documents contain what we feel assured that all of us must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly.

In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate?

Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to believe, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential, understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing country; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whistle; and a hunting stranger will mounted in it at a most rare of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable.

With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the tierce, as which is the crux of this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have horses in town which have been carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

That troubles Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them?

The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated.

I was thinking of diplomats.

Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a religious article. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty, but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not.

The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies

The Girl from the West

She Tamed the Haughty Youth From the East

By OTHO B. SENG.

Paul Alger looked firmly into Mrs. Elliott's face.

"You don't realize what you're asking, Aunt Ruth," irritably.

"I'm not asking," calmly. "I'm simply telling you what I expect of you. The girl will be here tomorrow. My will is made with these plans in view. If you don't fall in with them you're disappointed absolutely; that's all."

Alger rose.

"Aunt Ruth, you're more than a mother to me, and I'd like to do everything I can to please you, but this is expecting too much. I must reserve the right to select my own wife."

Mrs. Elliott was stubbornly silent and after a moment the young fellow said earnestly, "Aunt Ruth, give the money to the girl if you want to, but don't let her come between you and me."

"Don't talk to me, Paul," impatiently. "I shall give it to you two—together or not at all!"

"Who is this girl?" Alger demanded with heat. "That she should be thrust upon me in this style?"

"She is the daughter of my husband's brother. When this girl and my Frederick were little children the brothers promised each other that the children should marry when they were old enough. Frederick died, and after your mother's death I adopted you. You have taken Frederick's place in everything else. You must in this Promise, Paul!"

"It is utterly impossible!" firmly.

"Paul," temptingly, "she is very pretty."

Alger smiled and shook his head.

"And, Paul," playing her trump card, "she is musical."

"Music was Alger's passion.

"Yes?" indifferently.

"Yes," emphatically. "She plays the violin."

"What insupportable presumption!" impatiently. "A girl from the wild west, brought up on a cattle ranch, and you doubtless can ride a broncho or lasso a steer, but she shouldn't meddle with the violin. She probably never heard of Bach or Mendelssohn and wouldn't know a sonata from a sandwich. Aunt, I can fancy her playing her violin in her arms and bringing her the destruction of the other passengers in the Pullman. Right?"

"You refuse, then?"

"Most decidedly."

"Very well," icily. "I accept your decision as final."

The next day Alger from his desk in the library saw the girl as she entered the adjoining room, where Mrs. Elliott waited to greet her. She was tall and graceful, with a high arch of nose that surprised him. Her voice was clear and well modulated.

"Upon my word," he muttered, "I expected her manner of speech to be a cross between a cowboy's yell and an Indian warwhoop."

He saw the servant come in with a violin case.

"Will madam have this in the music room or?"

"Oh, no; here," and Vera held out her hands.

"You brought this yourself, Vera?" Mrs. Elliott's tone held the slightest suggestion of annoyance.

"In my arms literally," laughed Vera. Alger in his dim corner smiled.

Vera gently placed the case on the floor and lifted out the instrument as tenderly as a mother lifts her babe.

"Oh, Aunt Ruth," fervently, "when you see it you will understand my beautiful violin!"

She clasped it to her bosom with a gesture of tenderness. The beauty of the girl, the unforced grace of her pose and her evident artistic appreciation stirred Alger to instant admiration.

He met the girl at dinner. She gave him one long, earnest look that he felt at once an inquiry and a challenge, and then she directed her conversation to Mrs. Elliott.

Alger was piqued. He was accustomed to more attention from young women. She related some of the incidents of her trip.

"We had a concert each evening. There were three girls in our Pullman coming to Boston to study music. They sang well."

"And you played, I suppose, Miss Elliott?" Alger could not forbear the question.

She turned her glance upon him briefly. "Oh, I scraped my little best," cooly.

Alger felt the rebuff, but he shot a triumphant glance at his aunt.

As the evening progressed Alger began to wish that he could win some pleasant note or word from the girl and to deeply regret his inability to do so.

"Will you play for us, Miss Elliott?" he asked, more humbly, than was his habit.

She was about to decline, but Mrs. Elliott added quickly: "For me, Vera, dear. I am so anxious to hear you."

The instrument with which Vera returned to the room caught Alger's discriminating eye at once.

"Where did you get this, Miss Elliott?" almost abruptly as he recognized its rarity and value.

"It is a gift from my master. He had owned it for many years. He was also a Guarnerius and an Amati. But this was his 'sweetheart.' He always called it so."

"A master of the violin does not present the instrument he loves best—a Guarnerius almost beyond price—to a pupil who merely 'scrapes,'" thought Alger.

"Did he have many pupils, Miss Elliott?" experimentally.

"No one but myself. He is old and can no longer play. Age has stiffened his fingers. But he played once. Oh, how he could play! He taught me from a little child, and when I could play—to please him—he gave me this."

"Your teacher was a German?" tentatively.

"A Belgian," quietly. "Now you shall hear the voice of the Stradivarius."

She tuned the strings and played. There was certainty of chord, lingering strength, an almost limitless, combined with emotional warmth, about her interpretation of the difficult Bach sonata that started Alger.

"Bach's D Minor Sonata is not for amateurs," he said gravely to his aunt. Miss Elliott's eye is beyond question. She would rarely with the great violinists of the present day."

"I think John possessed some musical ability," replied Mrs. Elliott severely.

The girl raised her bow with an indescribable gesture of reverence. "My mother," proudly, "was a De Beriot. My master is my grandfather. I did not wish to seem to boast. He is Francis Auguste de Beriot."

"And this from the cattle ranch?" thought Alger.

As the days went by he found himself smilingly in love with the girl and unable to win from her anything more than the most chilling courtesy. He had not even the satisfaction of confiding in Mrs. Elliott. Once when he tried to speak of Vera, meaning to confess his love for the girl, his aunt interrupted him coldly. "Say no more, Paul. I accepted your decision as final, you will remember, and a letter will leave all I possess to the Home For Aged Men."

She swept angrily from the room. Alger stood for a moment as if stunned; then he laughed aloud. "That's good news! Now there's no money in the way, and I'll move heaven and earth to win the loveliest girl that ever—"

"'Come out of the west,'" quoted Mrs. Elliott, and the portion parted and Vera stepped from the window seat into the room.

Alger sprang forward hastily.

"Vera," eagerly, "you've known all the while that I love you?"

"A girl from the west, brought up on a cattle ranch? she couldn't hold him back with her hand on his breast."

"I don't care where you're from, or anything else, if you'll only say you love me, Vera," pleadingly.

"A girl who doesn't know a sonata from a sandwich?" mischievously.

"Vera, forgive me for that and say you love me."

"Paul," seriously, "I've loved you ever since I was a little girl. See? She drew a locket from her bosom and pressed back the cover.

Alger gazed in bewilderment. It was his own face that looked up at him. "Aunt Ruth sent that to my father. I claimed it as mine and have worn it always."

"Vera," with his arms about her, "you have you been so cruel to me when I've tried so hard?"

"I feared you might propose to me to please Aunt Ruth and—because of the money?"

"Here, here! What's all this about?" Alger's voice sounded harshly at the door.

They turned toward her together.

"Vera has promised to marry me," Aunt Ruth.

"And my latest will!" she fairly burst the words at them.

"We didn't!" they cried together rapturously.

"Was never signed," added Aunt Ruth in a choked voice, and she heard her laughing as she softly closed the door and left them to their happiness.

She (looking at photo proofs) Do you mean to tell me that I have such an ugly nose as that? Photographers! My apparatus cannot lie, condemn. She—Then for goodness' sake have enough sense to go and get one that catches the truth.

Pessimistic Thought.

Every rose has its thorn. And the most part of it is that the thorn stays on the job when the rose has withered.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

BRIGANDS IN SKIRTS.

Robbers in Europe Who Dress Like Grand Opera Ballet Girls.

There are places in the world where women dress in men's clothing and men don women's apparel.

Even in Paris there are women dressed in chap, coarse, masculine attire, working as seamstresses and day laborers. While it is against the law, the police wink at the fact and allow them to earn peaceably their daily wages.

In Persia in some of the interior parts the women wear the strangest, oddest trouser garments. They seem to like them, too, from the fact that they cling to them in spite of all efforts to make them don feminine attire.

Then there are the Alpine dairy maids, who dress as men when they go about their work and look pretty, if we are inclined to take evidence from the numbers of men who yearly persuade them to cast off their masculine dress and put on more clinging costumes. But then their eyes are so bright and their cheeks so red that they couldn't really look homely in anything they might choose to wear.

Again, far in the north, where it is freezing cold most of the time and people dress to be comfortable and not warm, the women actually force into trousers to keep warm.

The ancient women warriors always wore trousers. But their reasons were purely military. Besides, they were half masculine in manner and appearance and dressed to accentuate their qualities. They had to make themselves into fierce looking creatures to terrify the men on the opposing side, and from all accounts they succeeded admirably.

As for the stronger sex, there still seem to be men in existence who wear women's garb and enjoy it. In certain parts of Persia, Spain and Italy there are bands of desperate brigands who, when they are decked out for attacks on strangers or neighbors, look like all the girls in the country.

And this from the cattle ranch?" thought Alger.

As the days went by he found himself smilingly in love with the girl and unable to win from her anything more than the most chilling courtesy. He had not even the satisfaction of confiding in Mrs. Elliott. Once when he tried to speak of Vera, meaning to confess his love for the girl, his aunt interrupted him coldly. "Say no more, Paul. I accepted your decision as final, you will remember, and a letter will leave all I possess to the Home For Aged Men."

She swept angrily from the room. Alger stood for a moment as if stunned; then he laughed aloud. "That's good news! Now there's no money in the way, and I'll move heaven and earth to win the loveliest girl that ever—"

"'Come out of the west,'" quoted Mrs. Elliott, and the portion parted and Vera stepped from the window seat into the room.

Alger sprang forward hastily.

"Vera," eagerly, "you've known all the while that I love you?"

"A girl from the west, brought up on a cattle ranch? she couldn't hold him back with her hand on his breast."

"I don't care where you're from, or anything else, if you'll only say you love me, Vera," pleadingly.

"A girl who doesn't know a sonata from a sandwich?" mischievously.

"Vera, forgive me for that and say you love me."

"Paul," seriously, "I've loved you ever since I was a little girl. See? She drew a locket from her bosom and pressed back the cover.

Alger gazed in bewilderment. It was his own face that looked up at him. "Aunt Ruth sent that to my father. I claimed it as mine and have worn it always."

"Vera," with his arms about her, "you have you been so cruel to me when I've tried so hard?"

"I feared you might propose to me to please Aunt Ruth and—because of the money?"

"Here, here! What's all this about?" Alger's voice sounded harshly at the door.

They turned toward her together.

"Vera has promised to marry me," Aunt Ruth.

"And my latest will!" she fairly burst the words at them.

"We didn't!" they cried together rapturously.

"Was never signed," added Aunt Ruth in a choked voice, and she heard her laughing as she softly closed the door and left them to their happiness.

She (looking at photo proofs) Do you mean to tell me that I have such an ugly nose as that? Photographers! My apparatus cannot lie, condemn. She—Then for goodness' sake have enough sense to go and get one that catches the truth.

Pessimistic Thought.

Every rose has its thorn. And the most part of it is that the thorn stays on the job when the rose has withered.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

RIPPING REPORTEER.

The Newcomer Put One Over on Her Neighbor.

RIPPING is a delicate instrument, a fine product, a thing of taste, light and shadow. Anybody who does not believe this please stand up. Apparently everybody agrees to the description. Wherefore there is now related the example of the crustiest repartee ever indulged in by man or woman.

It was in a city which had risen to the dignity of having "fashionable suburbs," in which the inhabitants resented the arrival of people who "did not belong." One day there appeared in the community a woman who had lots of money and a fine and ornamental lack of tact in dealing with her neighbors. She called and called and called on the women in the suburb which was "fashionable," and strange to relate, she could never find them "in."

"My dear," said the warden, "this is such a pity that when you call I am always out—always."

Responded she who had been snubbed:

"Out of your home—or your head?" Popular Magazine.

Silenced.

Many a strange story is credited to Abraham Lincoln.

As a matter of fact, however, the great abolitionist once said to a friend who was inventing stories for him: "I don't make a story mine by telling it. I'm only a retail dealer." And to prove it he recited the following:

"There is a bright young slip of an attorney in southern Illinois who was trying a case in the district court. The prosecuting lawyer was a very large man, ponderous and likely to be overbearing in his attitude to the younger practitioners. In the course of his remarks the big man said: 'Why, your honor, counsel for the defense is so utterly insignificant that I could swallow him and his arguments at one gulp.'"

"It object to the remarks of the prosecutor?" interrupted the young attorney. "I would like to say, your honor, if the attorney for the complainant was able to do what he affirm he would have more brains in his stomach than he has in his head."

—New York American.

Cautious.

I remember once hearing of a man—a farmer he was—over in the County Down. He was a great one for inventing—always turning out great ideas that were great failures. Naturally in a place like that he was the "great joke" of the countryside. Well, anyway, he invented a flying machine. It was really a pair of wings made from wire and bent feathers.

He took a year to do it—secretly. But the night before he made his first attempt to fly, being both a hopeful and cautious man, he went round all the cottages within reach, and after sitting for a little while chatting, he said in an offhand way before leaving:

"If any of you sees a strange looking bird flying about the country tomorrow for the love or goodness don't be shootin' at it"—Bystander.

It All Depends.

Love is blind when a button is missing from baby's clothes. But it has fine sight when he comes home with a streak of rice powder on the lapel of his coat.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Child Welfare.

"I can cordially recommend these cakes, Miss Gladys. They are made with a liberal percentage of albumen."—Punch.

Natural Result.

"Your voice is all the stronger for your cold."

"How do you make that out?"

"It has more hoarse power."—Baltimore American.

Fame.

Wigwag—Don't you ever long for fame? Hardup—Oh, I don't know! Fame only makes that much harder for you to dodge your creditors.—Philadelphia Record.

Not the Right Way.

"Here you bet at cold water in your house?"

"Too much of both."

"How's that?"

"I write it always pouring cold water on my place or keeping me in hot water."—Baltimore American.

MAY VISIT DOMINION

MISS BEATRICE HARRADEN IS AN UNMILITANT SUFFRAGIST.

Authors of Ships That Pass in the Night Declares That Men Have Been Asleep For Several Generations and That Women Have Progressed—Favorite Reading is Hardy, Austen and Bible.

Beatrice Harraden, who a score or more years ago made a stir in the English-speaking world with her novel, "Ships That Pass in the Night," will probably visit Canada in the near future. Miss Harraden has some radical views on the suffrage question. She is not credited with being extremely militant to the extent of throwing stones, blowing up Government officials, kidnapping their children or burning the mails, but she says that women are better prepared than men to stand alone, that men have been asleep for several generations, while only women have progressed.

Biography is Miss Harraden's favorite reading, and the stories told by Thomas Hardy and Jane Austen her favorite novels. "And, of course, George Meredith's poems and Shelley, and of course that amazing book, the Bible," she declared recently. "But I don't read nearly so much as I used to do. For the moment active life interests me more than books, and I learn more by taking part in it than by contemplating it."

Books Nations Publish.

According to a Government return recently issued, the official history of the South African War cost £34,706.

This sounds a big sum, but it is quite small by comparison with that expended by the Germans on their official history of the Franco-Prussian War. This colossal work cost £240,000, and is illustrated by nearly one million engravings.

The official history of the Russo-Japanese War has only cost, so far, about £2,000; but then it is not nearly completed. The Americans, who usually do these things in style, spent $1,500,000 in illustrating and printing their official history of the great Civil War of 1861-65.

They believed to be a world's record as regards expensive Government publications. In our own country, however, the record is held by the report of the Challenger Expedition. This was a scientific expedition for the purpose of ascertaining if the world was first made aware of the existence of the deep-sea fishes—strange creatures, some of which are stone blind, others with eyes as big as saucers.

The report of this remarkable voyage fills some fifty volumes and 58,000 pages, and the cost was just on £30,000.

Man in Moon Disappearing.

Prof. J. B. Hale, who fills the chair of astronomy in King's College, London, in an interview recently said there is a change in the formation of the mountains and rocks in the moon which is discernible with the naked eye. This, he said, is due to the gradual decay of the mountain's chemical formation.

Probably it is only a question of time when nature will no longer alter the planet that we will be unable to distinguish the face of the moon. Prof. Hale added:

"Even today certain people declare the man in the moon has taken his departure, and in his place they make out a man with a bundle of sticks on his back."

Educating the Heathen.

"Brother Hardisty, can't you make your contribution for the education of the heathen a little larger than usual this year?"

"Dr. Goodman, I'm more than doubling it. I have just started that youngest boy of mine to college."—Chicago Tribune.

Not the Right Way.

"Here you bet at cold water in your house?"

"Too much of both."

"How's that?"

"I write it always pouring cold water on my place or keeping me in hot water."—Baltimore American.

Council Meetings

The council of the Village of Crossfield will meet in the Council Chamber over Fire Hall on the first Tuesday of each alternate month, commencing with February at 7 p.m.

By Order of the Village Council
1-52-4 W. McRory, Sec.-Treas.

Lodge Cards

CROSSFIELD LODGE I. O. O. F.

No. 42

Meets Every Wednesday Night in the Oddfellows Hall at 8 p.m.

Visiting Brethren Welcome.
ALAN JESSIMAN, C.M.S. THOMAS,
Fin. Sec'y. Rec. Sec'y.

Professional Cards

J. G. RIDDLE,

The Auctioneer

GARSTAIRS, ALBERTA.

FOR DATES AND FURTHER

PARTICULARS APPLY AT

The Chronicle Office.

Crossfield School District No. 752

The Board of the above School Board will be held at the School House at 10 a.m. on the first Saturday in the following month: January, March, May, July, September and November.

All matters of business pertaining to this district will be attended to at this meeting.

The office of the Sec. Treas. is in the real estate office next the Chronicle.

A. R. Thomas, Chairman.

E. S. McRory, Sec. Treas.

Flower Plants for Your Garden and Window Boxes.

Best Varieties, strong transplanted plants.

25 cents per Doz.

Pansies, Verbena, Phlox, Daisies, Aster, &c.

Strong Transplanted Cabbage Plants $1 per 100.

25 cents each.

Geranium Plants, very nice.

25 cents each.

Mail us your order to-day and they will be expressed to you at once.

A. M. TERRILL, LTD.

Florists, Calgary.

Store, Greenhouses, Loughed Bldg. East Calgary.
Phone 23812. Phone E2382.
Night Phone 5150.

U. S. BROWN, AUCTIONEER

Sales Conducted in Town or Country.

Post Office Address CREMONA.

Or call at the Chronicle

Office.

FARMERS wishing Reduced Rates

for any kind of Plover Shaws, Arranged, Canadian Stover Gasoline Engine Co., Brandon, Man.

Or Phone Thos. Fitzgerald.

SITUATION WANTED.

MAN AND WIFE (with girl, 10 years old), require a situation in town or on a farm, woman to do house work and man to do any kind of work outside. Inquire at the Chronicle Office, Crossfield.

J. J. ANDERSON,

Licensed Drayman.

Draying Done by Day or Contract.

Write, Phone or apply at Atlas Lumber Co., Crossfield.
P.O. Box 49. Phone 202.

CROSSFIELD LOCAL & GENERAL.

The next meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, on Saturday, June 7th, at 3 p.m. It is hoped there will be a good attendance. All who have not yet joined are invited to do so. Come and bring your friends.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held at the Parsonage on Wednesday afternoon, when the following officers were elected for ensuing year: Hon. President, Mrs. Berry; President, Mrs. McRory; Vice-President, Mrs. Morrow; Treasurer, Mrs. Wicks; and Secretary, Mrs. M. Thomas. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. McRory, on Wednesday, June 4th.

Laut Bros. are offering Timothy Seed at 8 cents per pound. See them while it lasts.

The announcement is made that the Hog and Dairy Special Train which was intended to be run during the latter part of June and the early part of July will not be put on. The reason assigned is that the special purpose of the train was to distribute young sows at a moderate cost to settlers, but the parties who were to supply the pigs for this purpose have not succeeded in saving a sufficient number to justify the running of a special train to distribute them.

Local Improvement District No. 280.

Council Meeting.

The Third regular Meeting of Local Imp. District No. 280, held at the Fire Hall, Crossfield, on Tuesday, May 20th, 1913, at 11 a.m.

Members present: Wipke, Stafford, Marston, Wood, Pearson, and Heaton. On the motion of Wood and Heaton the minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

On the motion of Heaton and Wood the claim of $27.00 for work on s.w. 12, 20, 27 w. of 4, was laid over for further investigation.

On the motion of Pearson and Wood the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Crossfield was designated as depository for money collected in south half of L.I.D. 280.

A communication from the Department at Edmonton was read, appointing Mr. W. Stafford councillor for No. 1 Division and Mr. D. Pearson councillor for No. 5 Division. It also allowed the Council to pay at the rate of $2.50 per day of 10 hours for labourers, and $5.00 per day of 10 hours for man and team for work for the current year.

On the motion of Pearson and Wood the council adjourned to meet at 2 p.m. On the motion of Pearson and Heaton the following bills were allowed and ordered to be paid: American Road Machine Co. $78, Laut Bros. $10.30, J. Anderson $8.75, E. L. Christie $3, Union Bank $80.75, J. G. King $15, N. J. Wipke $18, E. M. Robinson $48, Stuart Bros. $11.15, D. Pearson $15.25, V. Fisher $3.25, P. E. Robinson $152.

On the motion of Marston and Wood the following claims for work in 28-1 w. of 5 n. in 1912 were allowed and ordered to be paid: P. Smythe $21.00 labor, W. Landymer $80.20 labor, W. Stuart and Co. $15.06 lumber, E. L. Boyle $112 labor.

Councillor Marston and the Sec. Treas. were authorized to visit the late Sec. Treas. L. Farr, and investigate certain claims and pay sheets and found the following correct, for labor: Geo. Becker $1.50, Wm. Urquhart $9, Thos. Amory $1, C. Hultgren $32.75, H. Stewart $13.50, the Pedmore $9, W. Edwards $8, W. Gustin $18, E. High $8, E. Gibson $22.75, J. W. Wilson $87, Willard Brown $47.50, Pete Johnson $4.00, W. J. Wilson $10.10, Wm. Walworth $9, J. Crossman $20.75, G. Chapman $21.25, J. Anderson $18, J. Barrett $27.25, and salary L. Farr $13.25.

On the motion of Wood and Marston, A rebate of 10 cent on taxes for the current year paid before July 15th, 1913, shall be allowed.

On the motion of Wood and Pearson. The Chairman and Sec. Treas. were authorized to borrow from the banks if necessary not to exceed $1,000 at the rate not to exceed 8 per cent for two months.

On the motion of Pearson and Wood. The Sec. Treas. was instructed to order from the American Machine Co., at Calgary the following articles to be delivered: L.I.D. at the different depots at the same price and same terms as articles purchased April 29th, 1913.

1 No. 2 Wheel Scraper.
1 No. 1 Drag Scraper with runners, to be delivered to N. J. Heaton at level.

2 No. 3 Wheel Scraper, to be delivered to H. W. Wood at Carstairs.
2 No. 2 Wheel Scraper, to be delivered to H. E. Marston at Crossfield.

On the motion of Wood and Marston. Council adjourned to July 16th, 1913, at 11 a.m., at the Fire Hall, Crossfield.

Baseball Notes.

On Victoria Day the Airdrie Team visited town, and the way the boys used them, was no way to treat a visitor, especially when it is only an exhibition game. Score 10 to 4, in Crossfield's favour. We hope they will be able to repeat the performance when they go to Airdrie next Friday.

On Wednesday evening the team went to Carstairs for their Second League Fixture, and were decisively defeated by the score of 11 to 5. Much might be said of the individual play and players but suffice it to say that if we want to be in the running this year considerable improvement in infield play must take place. Come boys, get together and have a regular and consistent practice.

Be on hand on Saturday evening and see the Beaver Dam boys try conclusions with the local bunch.

Record Flax Crop.

Mrs. Annie E. Williams, of Gleichen, Alberta, had a record flax crop last year. She seeded 63.33 acres, and threshed 1877 bushels, which is equivalent to 29.63 bushels to the acre. The significance of this will be more readily appreciated when it is stated that the average yield per acre last year in Alberta was 19.83, in Saskatchewan 12.56, in Manitoba 13.39, in all Canada 12.60, and in the United States 9.90 bushels to the acre.

The variety which was grown was "Premont," a new kind which has been developed by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and which ripens ten days to a fortnight earlier than ordinary flax. The record of the growth of this crop shows that it was seeded April 16-18, was one foot high and in bloom on June 23rd, ripe on August 10th, and cut on August 27th. The germination test over seven days showed 98 per cent.

With the co-operation of the Agricultural Branch, Department of Natural Resources, Canadian Pacific Railway, Calgary, a large proportion of this crop, namely 1,280 bushels, was sold for seed purposes to a Hanna farmer, at the price of $3.00 per bushel; the C.P.R. also bought in a quantity for use on its Demonstration Farms. It should be noted by all farmers that the Agricultural Branch is at all times at their service for placing them in communication with purchasers of seed grain and grasses, and that it has in most cases secured larger prices for the farmer than he might have obtained locally.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the nearest Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district. Section 144 of the Act made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from the date of homestead made. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $500.00.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.60 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $500.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. B. EDWARD,
Dealer in HOGS and CATTLE.

Highest Market Price Paid.

DELIVERY TAKEN AT ANY TIME.

Crossfield

Alta.

Alberta Hotel

CROSSFIELD,
: Alberta. :

Under New Management.

A HOME-LIKE HOTEL FOR THE TRAVELLING PUBLIC

Newly Renovated
Throughout.
P. O. Box 38.

M. E. McCOY,
Manager.

COME! and SEE!
Telephone.

MATERNITY HOME,
CROSSFIELD.

Terms Moderate. Every Comfort.

For Terms Apply—
Mrs. MOSSOP,
Opposite Stuart's Lumber Yard.

Farmers Repair Shop

Special Attention Given to

BLACKSMITHING.

Blacksmith's Coal for Sale.

PRICES RIGHT

ALEX JESSIMAN, - Prop.

Stuart Walker,
Importer and Breeder of
SHIRE HORSES

A few good young Stallions, Mares
and Fillies always on sale

—At STUD—
DRAW MASTER, [28262].

The English Winner.
All Nominations taken for 1913.

Sampson: : Crossfield
P. O.: Station

Fresh Supply of
DIAMOND DYES.

All Colors.

Also COMPLETE STOCK
of

DYOLA DYES.

MERRICK THOMAS, Druggist

CROSSFIELD FAIR 1913

The Best Country Fair in the Province.

WILL BE HELD AT

CROSSFIELD
On Friday, June 20th

Be with us that day and have one
Good Day of thorough enjoyment.

See Posters for Particulars of Racing Events.

$2,500 in Prizes & Attractions

Let us have your Entries.

M. L. BOYLE,
President.

E. S. McRORY,
Secy.-Treas.

Why doesn't she take

NA-DRU-CO Headache Wafers

They stop a headache promptly, yet do not contain any of the dangerous drugs common in headache tablets. Ask your Druggist about them. 25c a box.

NATURAL DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED, 123

The Housekeeper

WHO WOULD MAKE WASH-DAY EASIER, CAN DO SO BY USING

Eddy's Wares

Eddy's Infurated Tube allow the water to retain heat longer and never rust. Being made in one seamless piece cannot splinter and so the danger of snagged fingers and torn clothes is eliminated. Used in conjunction with

Eddy's Washboards

Washday Loses Half Its Terrors

BOOST YOUR TOWN BY ORGANIZING A

BRASS BAND

WINNIPEG MANITOBA THE R.S. WILLIAMS & SONS CO., LIMITED, TORONTO (ON TARIO)

STRAYED

from the X Ranch Cereal a well eyed Pinto Broncho with a Roman nose and lightning heels. We have issued a humorous descriptive circular of this remarkable bronco with illustrations of his antics. Sent free on application to any reader of this paper. This is the most famous circular ever printed in the English language. More than half a million copies have already been distributed to advertise our famous Pinto Shall gloves made from tough Bronco hides. For a free copy send postal to Hudson Bay Knitting Co.

Canada's Expert Glove and Mitt Makers.
MONTREAL.

Maypole Soap

THE CLEAN HOME DYE
Gives rich, even colors, free from streaks and absolutely fast. Does not stain hands or clothes. 24 colors will give any shade. Colors 10c, black 15c, at your dealer's or post-paid with booklet "How to Dye" from

F. L. BENEDET & CO. Montreal

Why, little boy! exclaimed the shocked old lady, aren't you ashamed to be smoking that vile cigar?
Sure lady, replied the urbane, blowing out a ring, but yer see the guy got dropped. It didn't have no taste for good tobacco!

Buy from the Factory

Here's a chance for you to buy your range from the factory and save 30%—to buy it on easy terms and to get the very range you would choose, even if you had to pay the retail price.

Our free book shows you exactly what the range is like. It describes each point clearly, and we guarantee our range to be just as represented.

You might as well save the retail profit. Mail the coupon to-day.

Dominion Pride Range

Polished steel body—unbreakable doors and knobs—beautifully finished.

Cash or Credit
We Pay Freight

Please send Book.

Name _____
Address _____

W. N. J. 947

Apily Turned

Wife—Our phone is a party-line. Hubby—Yes, I notice that every time I want to turn it there is someone holding a reception on the wire.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

If you have reason for an act you won't need an excuse.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.
And the love of evil is the root of a lot of money.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little one. They act as a gentle laxative, sweeten the stomach, break up colds and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Landry, Upper Carleton, N.B., says: "Baby's Own Tablets were of great benefit to my little boy and I would advise all mothers with sickly children to give them a trial." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Never Again

Father, did mother accept you the first time you proposed to her? Yes, my dear, but since then any proposal that I have ever made she has scornfully rejected.

WERE TRIED AND STOOD THE TEST

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MAKING A REPUTATION IN THE WEST

Saskatchewan Man Tells How They Cured Him After Four Months' Suffering from Backache and Other Forms of Kidney Disease. St. Phillips, Sask. (Special).—In a new country where changes of climate and impure water are the difficulties to be surmounted, kidney trouble is prevalent. It is the kidneys, the organs that strain the impurities out of the blood, that first feel any undue strain on the body. Consequently Dodd's Kidney Pills have been well tried and tested in this neighborhood.

They have stood the test. Many settlers tell of backache, rheumatism and urinary troubles cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Otto Oldewald is one of them. In speaking of his cure he says: "I suffered from kidney disease for four months. My back ached, I had heart flutterings, and was always tired and nervous. My appetite was lost, my feet ached, my limbs were heavy; and I had a dragging sensation across the loins."

"I consulted a doctor, but, as I did not appear to improve, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took six boxes, and now I am all right." Dodd's Kidney Pills always stand the test. Ask your neighbors.

His Request

So you have determined to sue me for breach of promise?
Yes.
With damages.
Well, say, I've got just one favor to ask of you. Don't sue me for less than $100,000. I haven't a dollar in the world that I can call my own, and it might help my credit.

Everybody From Kid To Grandad Likes Post Toasties

Thin, crisp bits of white Indian Corn, cooked to perfection and toasted to a delicate brown without the touch of human hand.

You get them in the sealed package

Ready to Eat

A dish of Post Toasties for breakfast and lunch, with thick cream or rich fruit juice, is a dish that epicures might chortle over.

Nourishing, economical, delicious, "more-ish."

Made by Pure Food Factories of Canadian Portland Cement Company, Ltd., Windsor, Ont.

COLT DISTEMPER

Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in same stable, no matter how "exposed," kept from having the disease. It is a SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE, give on the tongue or in feed. Acts on the blood and kills germ of all forms of distemper. Best remedy ever known for mares in foal. Druggists and harness dealers. Cut shows how to position throat. Our free booklet gives everything. Largest selling horse remedy in existence—15 years. Distributors—ALL VETERINARIANS, SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Goshen, Ind., U.S.A.

DON'T MISS THIS

A Splendid 10 cent Household Specialty is being introduced all over Canada. It is appreciated by the Thrifty Housewife who wants things "Just a little better." Send post card to-day. Simply say—

"Send package of household specialty advertised in my newspaper"

That's all—You will be delighted! Pay if satisfied—we take the risk—Address P. O. Box 1240, Montreal, Can. This offer expires June 1st, 1913. Send to-day.

Milled from the best of the West's best wheat

Takes more water, makes more loaves. Ask your dealer.

PURITY FLOUR

More Bread and Better Bread

The Best Farm Lubricants

GRANITE Harvester Oil

A heavy, short-cut oil for farm machinery

Clings to the bearings and insures the least possible friction and wear. Moisture and changes of temperature do not affect it. The choice of the most successful farmers.

STANDARD Gas Engine Oil

Used and recommended by the leading engine builders all over the country. Keeps its body at high temperatures. Equally good for external bearings.

El Dorado Castor Machine Oil Silver Star Engine Kerosene
Capitol Cylinder Oil Imperial Motor Gasoline
Thrasher Hard Oil Mica Acid Grease

Stock carried at 300 tank and warehouse stations in Western Canada. For addresses, price lists, etc., write any agency.

THE IMPERIAL OIL COMPANY, Limited

Main Office: WINNIPEG
Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Vancouver.

Anaemic Condition or Bloodlessness

A peculiar pallor or even ghastliness of the skin is the marked symptom of anaemia. The eyelids, gums and lips appear to be almost bloodless. The cause of this condition is the absence of red corpuscles from the blood.

The anaemic patient is usually thin and weak, but may be fleshy and inclined to drowsy. Stomach troubles and weakness of the bodily organs are accompaniments.

Red corpuscles must be added to the blood, and this can best be accomplished by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure is so gentle and natural in action that it is admirably suited for the use of women and girls suffering from anaemia or other diseases which arise from an impoverished condition of the blood.

It is readily assimilated, enters the blood streams and carries health and strength to every organ of the body. The vigor of the digestive system is quickly restored, and the food taken into the body is properly digested and nourishment supplied in the whole system.

To get well and keep well you must supply the body with an abundance of pure, rich blood. Nothing can help you so well as

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

50 cents a box, $ for 2.50, at all dealers, or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto

CHAS. HULTGREN

Notary Public and Commissioner for taking Affidavits

Conveyancing of all kinds of Legal Papers such as TRANSFERS, MORTGAGES, AGREEMENTS OF SALE, LEASES, BILLS OF SALE, Etc. INSURANCE and LOANS my Speciality.

Houses For Rent and Rents Collected

CHAS. HULTGREN, Crossfield

Printer's ink won't make the car go. There's only one reason why 200,000 new Ford's can't possibly satisfy this season's demand. The car itself is right with a rightness that is unmatched anywhere at any reasonable price.

Our factories have produced nearly a quarter of a million Model T's. Prices: Runabout, $675; Touring Car, $750; Town Car, $1000—f.o.b. Walkerville with all equipment. For particulars get "Ford Times"—an interesting automobile magazine. It's free from A.W. Gordon, Agent, Crossfield, Canada—or direct from Walkerville.

CROSSFIELD POOL AND BILLIARD HALL

A full line CIGARS, CIGARETTES, TOBACCO, PIPES, CONFECTORY, Soft Drinks, Current Magazines.

Subscriptions taken for all the leading Magazines.
E. WEGENER, Proprietor.

Coal! Coal!

Now is the time to put in Your Winter Supply

We can supply you with Lethbridge or Taber Lump Coal at $6.75 on the car or $7 delivered in town. Special rates on 5 ton lots or more.

W. STUART & CO.,
GEO. BECKER, Manager.

The Crossfield Chronicle

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE. $1.00 per year in advance; or $1.50 if not paid in advance.

PUBLISHED at the Chronicle office, at Crossfield, Alberta, each Friday.

RATES

Business locals 10 cents per line first insertion; and 5 cents per line each subsequent insertion.

Legal advertisements, 12 cents per line for first insertion; and 8 cents each subsequent insertion.

Commercial contract rates upon application.

ROBERT WHITFIELD,
PRINTER AND PUBLISHER.

CROSSFIELD, ALTA., MAY 29, 1913.

"Made-in-Canada Train."

The 1913 exhibition of the "Made-in-Canada" Train has been organized on practically the same basis as that of last year. It will cover about 110 Western cities and towns on the C.P.R., C.N.R. and G.T.P., and occupy about 52 days. Leaving Montreal May 14th, the train visited Ottawa, Toronto, Sudbury, Port Arthur, Fort William, Kenora and Dryden before proceeding to Winnipeg on May 21st. After leaving Winnipeg it spent a day in Brandon and then proceeded along the Souris line via Arcola to Regina, touching all the principal towns en route. After leaving Regina it will proceed along the main line of the C.P.R. to Medicine Hat, making stops at all the principal intermediate points. Leaving Medicine Hat it will follow the Lethbridge line, making a side trip to Raymond, Magrath and other towns in that district. Leaving Lethbridge it will touch Macleod and all the principal points eastward on the C.P.R. south and north of Calgary making several stops before Macklin and also touching the principal points on the new line from Macklin to Moose Jaw. After four weeks on the C.P.R. it will be turned over to the C.N.R., which will handle the train from Regina to Prince Albert and from Warman to Edmonton, where they will transfer it to the G.T.P. for operation over their system from Tofield to Alix and from Edmonton to Melville, and from Melville to Canora. At the latter point it will be turned over to the C.N.R. again, making stops at Dauphin and intermediate points before proceeding to Winnipeg where the exhibits will be dismantled. This is a much more comprehensive tour than that of last year, and practically all the points covered, except the larger cities, will be new ones.

Ivor Lewis

Sole Agent for the Famous

GALT COAL

Hard Coal and Briquettes always on hand.

Fire Wood. Draying
Crossfield, Alberta

Ontkes and Thomas,

New Management at the

FARMERS MEAT MARKET.

Ready to serve you with

All Kinds of MEAT, FRESH and CURED.

Highest Prices Paid for

Cattle, Hogs, Sheep and Poultry
Crossfield, Alta.

For Sale

Several Good young Work Teams for sale. Apply to GEO. HUSER, Crossfield or phone 414, circuit 4. 3-1f.

PERCHEBON STALLION, one year old (Registered). CHEAP if taken at once. Also Massey Harris Gang Breaking Plow, nearly new. Inquire at Alberta Hotel, Crossfield, Alta.

24 JOHN PATTERSON.

Seed, &c., For Sale.

FOR SALE—Hulless SEED BARLEY. Germination guaranteed. 86 cents per bushel. Also Good Out Greenfeed in the Sheaf. A. J. STONE, 1 mile S. and 2 1/2 W. of Crossfield.

21

Estay.

ONE GREY MARE, about five years old, no visible brand, weight about 700 lbs. Has been on my place some time. WM. STAUFFER, Crossfield.

24

Wanted.—You to Advertise your wants and articles for sale.

Eggs for Hatching.

Single Comb W. Leghorns, Wolfrum Strain. EGGS FOR SALE.—$1.00 for 15, or $5.00 per 100—Apply W. HAYS, Crossfield.

Land To Be Let.

FOR RENT: 160 ACRES OF LAND, 1 mile north and 4 west of Crossfield. 30 acres ploughed ready for seeding. For particulars apply ED. KELLY, Crossfield, Alta. or T. B. TOWNSON, 168, James Street, Edmonton, Alta.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—"International" Home-power HAY PRESS, 16 by 18; McCormick MOWER, and heavy DEMOCRAT. All in good condition. A snap at $250. H. E. MARSTON, Crossfield.

21

Dogs for Sale.

PURE BRED RETRIEVERS.—FOR SALE, One Dog 8 months old; Two Dogs 3 months.—Price etc., WM. TREVENEN, Airdrie.

20

Quality First-- Price Second.

That has always been our Motto.

Pumps, Windmills and Accessories.

Stationary and Tractor Engines.

Democrats and Buggies.

Cream Separators, &c., &c.

HAYING AND HARVESTING MACHINERY.

GEO. O. DAVIS,
IMPLEMENT DEALER,

Crossfield, Alta.

Phone 21.

"Made-in-Canada" 1913 Exhibition Train Coming!

THIS is the most realistic demonstration of Canada's advance to leadership in manufactures.

10 Cars Full Of Interesting Exhibits

From the leading Canadian Manufacturers we have gathered exhibits of what is newest and best for farm and home. Just a walk through the train will be an education and delight. Make especial note to see the exhibit of Produce from the Mixed Farming Districts of Ontario.

EVERYONE WELCOME ADMISSION FREE

Make The Exhibition A Family Holiday

There will be free MOVING PICTURES and LANTERN SLIDES. Nearly 100 Fascinating Exhibits.

DON'T MISS THIS UNIQUE TREAT

TRAIN WILL BE AT C.P.R. DEPOT

CROSSFIELD, MONDAY, JUNE 9th, 1913

FROM 8-30 a.m. to 10-30 a.m.

